Because you have had prior federal student loans discharged due to total and permanent disability, your physician must document your eligibility to engage in substantial gainful activity in order for you to be eligible to borrow additional federal student loans.

By signing this form, the student acknowledges the following: Any loans I receive hereafter cannot be canceled in the future on the basis of any present impairment or condition, unless the impairment or condition substantially deteriorates to the extent that the definition of total and permanent disability is met.

Disability Discharge Physician's Certification Of Borrower's Eligibility to Engage in Substantial Gainful Activity

General Information

This form is used to obtain a physician's certification, and a borrower's acknowledgement, that the borrower is able to engage in substantial gainful activity in order to allow the borrower to secure and repay Federal Direct Stafford Loans (subsidized and/or unsubsidized) and/or Parent PLUS Loans.

Definition of Total and Permanent Disability

To be totally and permanently disabled, the borrower must be unable to work and earn money because of an injury or illness that is expected to continue indefinitely or result in death.

This definition calls for a judgment decision as to the borrower's ability to earn income despite their disability. The physician has to assess the impact of the borrower's disability on the borrower's ability to earn income in light of what the borrower would be able to earn if not disabled. If the disability appears to have a significant adverse effect on the borrower's earning potential, not only in the type of work performed before the impairment, but for any substantial gainful employment, and the disability is expected to last for a long and indefinite period of time, then the borrower shall be considered permanently disabled under this definition.

If, however, the borrower's condition has improved such that the borrower is able to engage in substantial gainful activity, a reaffirmation (reinstatement, no longer in discharge status) can be processed to allow the borrower to regain eligibility for Title IV federal student aid.
