At RRCC, academic integrity is the ethical foundation upon which the academic community pursues professional, administrative and scholarly endeavors. Everyone associated with the college's academic community has a responsibility for establishing, maintaining and fostering understanding and respect for academic integrity. Following are some principles associated with academic integrity to which we expect students to adhere.

- Assume responsibility and take credit only for the words and/or ideas in an academic exercise that are expressly one's own.
- Use information, computer programs, disks, another student's work, study aids, and/or other materials only when allowed by the instructor.
- Remove materials from the library, labs and other college facilities only when an official representative of the college grants permission.
- Use copyrighted materials only with permission, attribution and/or correct citing as specified by copyright grantor.
- Refuse to help another commit an act of academic dishonesty.

Syllabus
