Outstanding Graduates

Matt Adrian
Jasmine Romero

National Society of Leadership and Success

Inducted members of The National Society of Leadership and Success are wearing silver and black regalia. These students have completed leadership training, peer mentoring for goal accomplishment, and seminars led by nationally recognized industry leaders. The mission of The Society is “We build leaders who make a better world.”

Outstanding Graduates

Outstanding Graduates are selected from among nominations made by faculty, staff, and students. To be considered, a student must hold a minimum 3.2 cumulative GPA and have demonstrated a positive impact on the college/community through clubs, organizations, student government, employment, or community or campus service.

Phi Theta Kappa

Students wearing the gold regalia are members of Phi Theta Kappa, the international honor society for two-year colleges. Founded in 1918, its mission is to recognize and encourage the academic achievement of two-year college students and provide opportunities for individual growth and development through participation in scholarship, leadership, service and fellowship programming.

Veterans Honors

Red Rocks Community College is proud to honor our graduates who are veterans. The red, white and blue cords on these graduates designate military personnel who have been honorably discharged. We thank them for serving our country.

Graduate and Academic Attire and Institutional Mace

In medieval universities, students and teachers wore gowns indicating their status and scholastic achievements. European institutions still show great diversity in the specifications of academic dress, but American colleges and universities preferred to adopt a definite system that all could follow. Accordingly, in 1895 at Columbia University, an intercollegiate commission drafted a uniform code for the use of caps, gowns and hoods. These standards, with few revisions, are still in effect. Red Rocks Community College follows the Academic Costume Code.

Four academic degrees are generally recognized: the associate degrees are offered by community and two-year junior colleges. The other three degrees (bachelor's, master's and doctor's) are conferred by universities and colleges. The bachelor's, or baccalaureate degree, takes its name directly from the medieval practice of "bachelors" wearing a garland of bayberries. The master's degree was equivalent to a license to teach and sometimes was followed by the words "Licentia Docendi." The doctor's degree indicates advanced study and independent research in a specialized field of learning. Honorary degrees are granted for meritorious service and for distinction in public or private endeavor.

Those holding a bachelor's degree wear a black gown fastened at the top, distinguished by long, pointed sleeves hanging nearly to the knees. The master's gown has long, closed sleeves with an arc of a circle appearing near the bottom and a slit for the arm near the middle of the sleeves. The doctor's gown is made of silk, faced with a broad strip of velvet, and has three bars of velvet on each sleeve.

A hood made of the same material may be worn with the gown. The bachelor's hood is three feet long, with a two-inch strip of velvet; the master's hood is three feet long faced with a three-inch strip of velvet. Doctoral hoods are four feet long with a five-inch velvet border. The color of the tassel or velvet strip on the hood indicates the field of study in which the degree was earned or granted: for example, Arts—white; Science—golden yellow; Business Administration—olive green; Journalism—crimson; Law—purple; Education—light blue; Philosophy—dark blue. Each hood is also lined in silk with the colors of the institution that granted the degree; for example, silver and blue for Colorado School of Mines and green and gold for Colorado State University.

The appropriate cap for all degrees is the familiar black mortarboard. A tassel, black or a color signifying the field of specialization, is worn hanging to the left of the face. Those holding a doctor's degree may wear a soft velvet cap of the color indicating their field of study, or with the mortarboard they may wear a tassel in gold or in part of gold thread.

In medieval times, the mace was a weapon for warfare, but now it is a wooden staff carried by or in front of a magistrate or other dignitary as a sign of authority. The first dated record of the use of the academic mace goes back to Vienna University in the year 1385. The academic mace served as a sign of authority and was carried by a designated member of the faculty during ceremonial occasions. The mace was adorned with inscriptions and symbols commemorating the institution.

Constructed of mahogany and maple, the Red Rocks Community College mace was designed and crafted by Construction Management and Technology faculty and staff members in 2001. At the Commencement Ceremony, the Faculty of the Year carries the mace to lead the graduation procession.
